

Meet the Creators Behind Your Pride Month Event

Say hello to the inspiring creators & educators of your Pride Month events!

confetti

Celebrate Pride Month with Confetti!

Inspire your team with educational, interactive experiences — all created by our incredible LGBTQIA+ community. Book yours today!

Get Started

confetti

Alex Heimberg

Drag Queen Bingo, LGBTQIA+ Drag Queen Trivia

Alex has had over 30 years of experience in the entertainment industry as a drag performer and host.

He has brought his talents to private and corporate events, creating unforgettable moments for his clients through his team of drag queens. As a coordinator of Virtual Drag Bingo and Virtual Drag Trivia events, Alex brings his passion for performance to the planning process, ensuring that each event is a show-stopping success.

George Benson

Exploring LGBTQIA+ Art

George is a museum educator who co-wrote MoMA’s first ever Queer tour.

He has been passionate about Queer art history for over a decade now, and has worked with some of the largest museums in the world to advocate for greater LGBTQ+ representation. George is helping to tell the story of Queer art so all can learn from the disproportionately large contribution Queer artists have made to the history of the world.

Zak Martelluci

LGBTQIA+ Cultural Impact Class

Zak is a storyteller, tour guide, science communicator and huge nerd living in New York City.

Zak has worked in and around museums for the last 8+ years and leads tours of various cultural institutions around the world. By creating unique, engaging, and educational adult museum experiences, he specializes in getting people excited about all things science.

Nicolette Acosta

Rainbow Bagel Making Class

Through her events, Nicolette combines her passion for food and female/Latina/Queer representation in the creative professional world.

She is so excited to be able to use her studies in culinary arts to not only bring people fun, innovative, and delicious new experiences, but to also build a strong, compassionate community through Confetti events.

Carlo D’amore

History of the LGBTQIA+ Movement

Carlo is an actor, writer, director, producer, and avid storyteller.

As an actor, he has appeared on Broadway and Off-Broadway, in regional theaters, and on film and television. His directing work has been featured in the N.Y Times, N.Y Mag, CBS, GQ, NBC, to name a few. He shot his first film Mamita in 2022 and is currently writing a television series based on his solo play, No Parole.

Shira Bordoloi

LGBTQIA+ Allyship in the Workplace

Shira has worked in corporate training for 20 years.

With a background in operations, production, and management, she is passionate about bridging employee well-being and professional development. Her team includes credentialed experts and coaches who have facilitated thousands of informative, engaging, and practical workshops on topics such as Leadership, Communication Skills, Diversity and Inclusion, Allyship, and Mental Health.

Confetti’s Own!

Savvy Jones

LGBTQIA+ History & Culture Trivia, Jeopardy, Mini Games, Pride Pub

Savvy is a game designer based in Princeton, NJ and is beyond thrilled to be on the Confetti internal team as their Head of Games.

She and her team are also behind the content for all of Confetti’s games, including Virtual Escape Quest, Coworker Feud, Trivia, and more.